The Story of Ottawa's Growth

OTTAWA OF TO-DAY

Ottawa, the capital of the Dominion of Canada, is governed by a Board of Control, composed of a Mayor and four Controllers and a Council of eighteen Aldermen, elected annually. The Mayor and Controllers are elected by general vote, the Aldermen by Wards—two for each ward. The Mayor is ex-officio Chairman of the Board of Control, is one of the Police Commissioners and represents the City Council on all committees and commissions appointed by the Council.

The Central Canada Exhibition is held in Ottawa annually. The grounds and buildings are owned by the City, being leased to the Exhibition Association for holding the Fall Fair.

The affairs of the Public Library are administered by a Board called The Public Library Board.

The Collegiate Institute is administered by a Board called The Collegiate Institute Board.

The Public Schools and Separate Schools are administered by Trustees.

Ottawa's century of life is a stirring story of national expansion and development, of growing strength and increasing wealth. It is a story that thrills alike with the history made and with the promise of the future. One hundred years ago Ottawa, then known as Bytown, was just beginning to take its infant toddling steps on the pathway that has led it to greatness and fame. Ottawa, the Capital City of the Dominion of Canada, is the industrial and commercial metropolis of Eastern Ontario. It is a city that reflects in a thousand and one ways the achievements of the people of Canada. Its National development, coupled with its civic, commercial and financial development marks it plainly as a worthy city for the Capital of Canada. In the variations of advantages which Ottawa possesses in the line of industrial, social, sight-seeing and recreative opportunities, Ottawa takes a proud and worthy position among all the capitals of the world.

Ottawa has advanced far since the days of a century ago, her progress since Confederation reads like a romance, but great though her past, Ottawa is only on the threshold of its development, unlike many of the cities of this Continent which have reached the apex of their progress; Ottawa on account of its natural advantages, industrial, social, financial and recreational, stands in a premier position with regard to the future and on account of it being the National Capital, feeling every pulse beat of the National Heart, it is great and will become greater, richer and grander as Canada realizes her destiny. No city on the continent, no capital in the world, has before it a more promising and alluring future.

Ottawa has to-day a population of inhabitants, which number is increasing at a rapid rate every year. It covers an area of 5,295½ acres, or approximately ten square miles. It has an assessed value of rateable property, which does not include the Parliament Buildings and Government Departmental Buildings, of over $140,000,000. Within the boundaries of the city there are sixty-five miles of paved streets, 230 miles of paved walks, 201 miles of water mains, and 152 miles of sewers, and 55 miles of street railways. Government owned buildings valued at over $30,000,000, the total taxable real estate in Ottawa for 1922 was $137,059,227.

OTTAWA OF YESTERDAY

The significance of these figures, when one looks at them in the light of the past, means a great deal for the future of the Canadian capital.

The land on which the city originally stood comprises six lots, three lots of Concession C and three lots of Concession D, the boundary line between them being

BIRDSEYE VIEW OF NEPEAN POINT AND OTTAWA RIVER.

Cumberland Street. The first of these two lots extending north and south from Maria St. (Laurier Ave.) as far south as Ann St. (now Gladstone) and east and west from Concession St. (now Bronson Ave.) to the Rideau river, were patented to Grace McQueen in 1801 by the crown. Her family lived there till 1832 when these lands were sold for $5,500 to Col. By. In 1802 Jacob Carman took out a patent for two lots similar in size from Pooley's Bridge to the Rideau between Ottawa and Cathcart streets on the north and Wellington and Rideau Streets on the south which included Parliament Hill and Major's Hill Park. This property changed hands for ten pounds, and in 1823 was again taken possession of by the crown at a price around $3,500. The remaining two lots between these two properties, one of which is now the business centre of Ottawa was obtained, by John Burrows, who afterwards in 1826 sold it to Nicholas Sparks for a ridiculously low figure as compared with later prices. The rest of the city as we know it today was patented to Louis T. Besserer in 1828. The value of these three properties in those days ran to about $25,000, today they are worth almost $100,000,000.

The commercial advantages of the Ottawa, the Chaudiere Falls, were perceived long before the white man's arrival by the Algonquin Indians. Here was the goal of yearly trading of many Indian tribes whose ordinary habitats were thousands of miles apart. The river was the route along which the trade of the first inhabitants in Canada travelled before the first occupation and long before Champlain's first famous trip in 1615 up the Ottawa to Georgian Bay.

Great annual fairs were held in this vicinity by the Indians. They came from as far south as Virginia, the Hurons, the Algonquins, who not only came to trade, but to worship at the Chaudiere Falls which was considered a great shrine at which propitiatory offerings were made. Father Broeboeuf, Father Daniels, Father Juges, the great French missionaries to the Hurons often passed by what was to be Canada's future capital and some of them have left behind their impressions of the great natural beauty of the place.

The first of the Anglo Saxons to settle here came in the person of Philomen Wright in 1799. Hull across the Ottawa was founded by him, and a lumbering district established. It was not until 1811, that Ira Honeywell cleared land and made the first home on this side of the Ottawa close to the Chaudiere Falls. Here in 1811 was born the first white child of the district, so this may be called the real beginning of Ottawa. Between 1811 and 1818 the Richmond pioneer arrived, the soldiers of Waterloo with their wives and children. There were also three settlers who may be called the advance guard of what is now lowertown.

Between 1818 and 1826 new settlers arrived in numbers. This is the time from which Ottawa really may claim to date its business, in which it had its commercial and financial origin. In 1827 Lt. Col. By of the Royal Engineers arrived from England and pitched his tent on Nepean Point on which he gazed around on an almost unbroken wilderness. The Imperial government in 1814, decided for the safety and good of British Canada, that all the trade should pass inland to the Ottawa, and it was then that the plans for the construction of the Rideau Canal from Kingston to Ottawa were figured on. Col. By broke the first sod for this great Imperial military undertaking in the spring of 1827. The great Arctic explorer Sir John Franklin laid the corner stone of the second lock of the Rideau Canal at Ottawa in 1827.

The canal which was built in six years cost $4,000,000. This connection with the St. Lawrence river brought business and population to Ottawa, and within a couple of years Ottawa boasted some 50 commercial establishments, mostly small. Many of them however laid in those days the foundation of several fine fortunes that are still in existence today in the Canadian capital.

Another boon came in 1837 when the first timber slides were constructed in Ottawa. By 1828 there were 150 houses in Ottawa located on the following streets: Wellington, Vittoria, Lyon, Kent, Sussex and Rideau Streets, and a few in Corktown, the settlement of the Irish immigrants which laid along the present canal from Birkett's warehouse to the subway on Elgin Street.

By 1837 there were two small villages of Upper and Lower Town separated by a wooded spur of the hill. A lumbering centre, a lively busy place; with an abundance of intelligence and business enterprise, with 1,300 inhabitants, Bytown grew rapidly and became of great importance and was incorporated as a town in 1847, having a population of 5000 at that date. Much of its importance came about as a consequence of its being the distributing centre for the growing districts and lumbering areas of the upper Ottawa.

The first saw mill was erected at the Chaudiere in 1853, and others followed in rapid succession, bringing increased population and wealth to the town which by 1854, on December 18th, was incorporated as a city. The municipal councillors remembering the writings of Charlevoix in 1740, who called the great trader Indians of that date Outaway instead of Oudatawa from Charlevoix's name gave the new city the name "Ottawa." At the time of its incorporation Ottawa had a population of 7500 inhabitants.

Ottawa's Coat of Arms and Motto.

Long before the name of Col. By was ever heard in this part of the world, two men strolled along the beach in Hull, one of them, the Earl of Dalhousie, said to his companion, "His Grace the Duke of Wellington has lately proposed a scheme of uniting the Grand River (Ottawa) with Lake Ontario. If such an event should happen, do not be surprised if one day you should see on yonder eminence (and pointing to Parliament Hill) the seat of the Government of the two Canadas".

This was in the summer of 1815. The prophecy has been fulfilled. Col. By also had the same dream. All the great people connected with the building of the great Capital here seemed to have an uncanny vision of the future of Ottawa. Even the great Duke himself dreamed of a vast interior city and a commercial hive of industry. Knowing Ottawa to-day it is inspiring to realize the tradition and history back behind her.

The incorporators of the City in 1854 seemed also to have the same faith for the Motto they adopted for the City was not only ennobling, but inspiring. "Advance." And "Advance" it has been, for to-day Ottawa is the Metropolis of United Canada.

Ottawa's Crest adopted at the same time also pointed distinctly to a distinguished future. The interpretation of the Crest is interesting and it also serves to explain to a great extent Ottawa's present proud estate in Canadian and world affairs.

The broad axe represents "The square timber trade."

The beehive represents "Industry."

The plough and sheaf of wheat represent "Plenty."

The locomotive represents "Transportation facilities by rail."

The rural scene and setting sun represent "A country blessed with sunshine timber and game."

The falls represent "The Chaudiere Falls and water power facilities."

The figure of the woman on right of Crest "Justice."

The rose, shamrock and thistle represent "British connections."

Ever since 1844 this Crest has served as the City's Hall mark. In itself this Crest, if once interpreted and understood, represents the best advertisement that could be given to Ottawa. The detail stands true and sound to-day and in studying same one cannot but admire the uncanny vision of the Scot, Mr. George Hay, who away back in 1844 designed it, and in so doing visioned the glorious Capital City of today.

In 1857, after serious and long deliberation, and much to the disapproval of other Canadian cities, the great Queen, Victoria the Good, chose Ottawa as the Capital of the United Canadas, which choice was ratified and confirmed by Parliament and the Departmental Buildings were commenced in 1857 and completed in 1865. The great King, Edward the Peacemaker, when Prince of Wales on his tour through Canada, laid the corner-stone on September 1st, 1860.

Practically from this date the City commenced that phenomenal development which has since made it famous the world over.

The first session of Parliament was opened on June 8th, 1866, and during the session the grand project of Confederation was matured, and finally worked out.

ALONG THE DRIVEWAY TO EXPERIMENTAL FARM.

There is the tale of romance of the olden times dating back to 1615, there is the story of the struggles and trials of the pioneers of 1800 and on to 1827, there are the annals of the River and Lumber Kings, and last, but not least, the thrill and the romance of the Empire Builders who brought a United Canada into existence, all wrapped around the name that has become the pride of Canada, "Ottawa," Ottawa the beautiful, the Capital of our Country, Canada.

On the 1st of July, 1867, the birthday of the new Dominion was celebrated duly in Ottawa by the 18,700 inhabitants of that day who were proud to think that they were citizens of the Capital City of Canada.

Ottawa's growth since Confederation has been sure and steady depending on no booms. An examination of the following table bears this fact out, taking ten year periods.

Year	Taxable Assessment	Population
1828		1,000
1847		5,000
1848		6,275
1857		7,760
1860	$5,011,840	18,700
1870	5,180,148	20,561
1880	10,274,735	24,025
1890	17,109,960	43,122
1900	24,478,800	58,195
1910	55,175,811	86,106
1920	129,630,510	135,154
1921	138,847,044	143,402

The story of Ottawa from 1867 down to the present date is the story of the growth of a great National Capital. When it is realized that the annual pay list of the Government to its servants who live in Ottawa is $8,000,000, and that this sum is paid out to 8,000 people who spend the most of it in Ottawa, an answer is given at once to the question—why is Ottawa always prosperous from a merchant's standpoint.

Water Power.

From industrial and commercial standpoints, Ottawa to-day stands in the front rank. She offers a combination of greater advantages and economic facilities than any other City in the Dominion. Ottawa has the cheapest power and light in Canada, and the consumption of power is about 75,000 h.p. when required, and operated in the very heart of the city. Within fifty miles of Ottawa there is available 1,000,000 hydraulic horse power low water estimate. This is made up as follows:

Ottawa River, all tributaries above Ottawa including the Mississippi, Madawaska and Bonnechere rivers—589,330 h.p., Ottawa River and all tributaries below Ottawa, including the Gatineau River, Riviere du Lievre—269,683 h.p. In considering Ottawa's future in that we are now in "the white coal age," water power must be considered. When we realize that within fifty miles of Ottawa there is about 1,000,000 h.p. available, and consider that Niagara only gives a horse power of 400,000 the future of Ottawa industrially can be seen. Realize that within ten miles of the city hall 230,000 h.p. is available.

Ottawa, the city of cheap water power, and lots of it, offers special inducements to the investor and manufacturer, splendid industrial sites with trackage are available, and cheap. Within the city limits with fixed assessments for a large number of years there are available sites awaiting occupancy at a nominal cost.

Ottawa offers industrial advantages as above, this is why Ottawa is probably the largest lumber centre in the world, with a normal average production of from 450 to 500 million feet of lumber per year.

Ottawa has the world's largest industrial factories producing paper, cardboard, tents and awnings and cement.

In addition, from an industrial standpoint also Ottawa offers many distinct advantages.

Transportation by rail and water are ideal. There are nine steam railways entering the city, eight water transport lines, and four express companies which connect with all the railroads in eastern and central parts of the United States.

The water lines operate via the Rideau Canal to the St. Lawrence and Great Lakes, Montreal and the Atlantic seaboard.

Freight rates to the great markets of Western Canada are the same per class per cwt. as rates from Toronto, London, Hamilton, Windsor and other Ontario industrial centres, with the advantage of one-half to two days' quicker service from Ottawa to Western ports, by reason of direct haul without transshipments, as is necessary on consignments of freight from points not on the main line of the great trans-continental railway lines like Ottawa is. This point is vital for the manufacturer and investor and all the more so when it is realized that Ottawa on east-bound and export traffic has the advantage in both rates and time over all other Ontario and Western Canadian cities by reason of location and more direct lines and transportation facilities between this point, the Atlantic ports and the United States, and that in addition she has woodworking, papermaking, and for kindred industries raw materials available in the city and within easy access, and that Ottawa offers for any industry such as woollen, flour, furniture, steel, the cheapest haul of the raw products required of any city in Canada.

It is important to remember that as an industrial centre Ottawa stands pre-eminent in her wealth of opportunity. She has an abundance of cheap power, nearby sources of raw material, a plentitude of labour and good safe sound labour, excellent transportation facilities by water and rail with low freight rates, on national transcontinental routes.

A City of Beautiful Homes.

It is a fortunate city that can speak with pride of its homes. The very life of a city physically and morally depends upon its homes. There are no slums in Ottawa. The Ottawa Electric Railway, which has no peer on this continent, has made rapid transit possible, therefore the residential portion of Ottawa no longer circles the business centre but instead has spread out southward, eastward, and westward, where spacious and homelike residences have sprung up. A city of homes, of comfortable homes, Ottawa essentially is, and coupled with a delightful vigorous healthy climate with the advantages and benefits of a great social, literary, educational and social atmosphere, Ottawa is an ideal place to raise a family in. This is just as true for the children of the laborer as for the children of the capitalist or manufacturer. There are twenty-four public schools, tuition free, and twenty-nine separate schools. In addition there is a Model and Normal school. Ottawa has one of the best equipped and manned Collegiate Institutes in Canada. The Ottawa University is one of the finest Catholic Institutions on the continent, its doors being open to all. There are many business colleges, ladies' colleges, convents and private schools. Ottawa is distinctly a progressive educational centre.

A Healthy City.

Wealth without health is of little value. Ottawa has not forgotten the importance of good sanitary arrangements. Ottawa has natural drainage facilities, and these have been taken full advantage of, nearly three millions of dollars have been spent in the building of sewers, of which there are 142 miles laid. The elevation of the townsite above sea level is 200 feet, which makes the climate healthy and invigorating. The temperature in July and August very seldom ever reaches 100 degrees. The neighboring Laurentian Hills with their bracing air brings to Ottawans vigor and health and the heat of summer can be quickly overcome in the beautiful parks and playgrounds underneath abundant shade trees.

A Tourist Centre.

Nature has done much for Ottawa, but the civic and Federal authorities have worked hard to make Ottawa the prettiest capital in the world. The parks, the Government Driveway, and the Central Experimental Farm are the pride of every Ottawan. Ottawa has been happy in its selection of its public parks. The largest and most beautiful is Rockcliffe Park. It contains 185 acres, and is conceded by tourists to be one of the most beautiful parks in the world.

Strathcona and Major's Hill Park are also the delight of the tourist, while reached by trolley are Britannia-on-the-Bay and Aylmer Park on Lake Deschenes, where every type of water sport and life can be partaken of.

Steamer trips by the Ottawa to the Chats Falls, a lovely cataract and delightful fishing and camping spot, afford an inexpensive trip to the tourist.

Motor trips down the Ottawa through a country of unparalleled beauty will never be forgotten.

Trout fishing in the lakes and streams of the Laurentian Hills, reached by excellent motor roads, give opportunities that delight the disciples of Isaak Walton.

Hunting deer and bear in these same hills in the fall gives another side of the Capital's sport opportunities.

Motor boating, canoeing, steamboating up the Rideau Canal 'midst the glories of the Rideau Lakes, is a glorious summering offer to the tourist.

Miles of motor roads penetrating into sylvan glades, into mountain lakes and streams on both sides of the river, visiting the glory spots of the Upper Ottawa are attracting to Ottawa thousands of tourists every year.

One hundred and sixty-five miles away lies the wonders and glories of Algonquin Park, a great sport centre, and conceded to be one of the finest fishing places on the Continent.

Excellent motor roads and fine rail services will bring the tourist quickly to the wilderness where cooling breezes, fine fishing, swimming and boating, and a thousand and one beauty spots will make the summer speed all too quickly.

ELGIN STREET ENTRANCE TO LANSDOWNE PARK.

Ottawa is equipped with one of the finest hotels on the Continent, the Chateau Laurier, which caters especially to the summer tourist. Numerous other hotels, all of which rank as first class, are also to be found in Ottawa, and which have the confidence of the public are the Russell, the Alexandra, the Cecil and the Windsor.

A Great Convention City

Ottawa is now known as the city which has the greatest number of conventions of any city in Canada. In fact Ottawa is now known the Continent over as "the Convention City" and "Tourist Centre."

Points to Visit in Ottawa.

It is the seat of the Federal Government, the main Parliament Buildings being situated on Parliament Hill. The new Parliament Buildings stand as the very apex of architectural beauty both from an exterior and interior viewpoint.

The Parliament Library is one of the largest and finest on the Continent.

The Victoria Museum at the lower end of Metcalfe Street gives an unrivalled display for the edification and instruction of all, a priceless and complete exhibition of the wealth, art and variety of Canada's unbounded and unlimited resources in every department. Here is to be found one of the finest mineral exhibits in the world, a Natural History Department affords the visitor an educative surprise, and true nature fossils, curious fossils of organic remains, and a vast variety of aboriginal curiosities as well as the glorious display of the Art Gallery afford the visitor many hours of pleasure and study.

The Archives also give the student an opportunity to peer into the past.

The Mint affords a few hours educational treat

The Experimental Farm with its wealth of beauty, its beautiful flowers and interesting agricultural studies is a delightful spot.

The Carnegie Library affords the student a delightful retreat.

A trip through the Booth and Eddy's mills is both educative and interesting.

A trolley trip around the city taking in Rockcliffe Park and Britannia is one never to be forgotten.

Ottawa's theatres are all high-class and offer to the visitor some hours of pleasant rest from sightseeing. The principal ones are the Russell, Loew's, Dominion, Family, Centre, Regent, Imperial and Casino.

In summer a visit to the Rideau Hall grounds is interesting. Ottawa offers every type of sport life. In summer lacrosse, tennis, golf (there are several excellent golf clubs), football and baseball, hunting, fishing, swimming and boating. In winter, skating, snowshoeing, tobogganing, skiing, hockey and curling. The tourist can always find a ready welcome at any of the clubs. Ottawans are famous the world over as a hospitable people. Remember Ottawa is not only a great summer resort but that she is also a great winter resort.

In a social way Ottawa is unique. The tourist visiting here with proper credentials can partake in an endless series of social functions and entertainments, balls, dances, luncheons, receptions and teas. A city of smiles and social life Ottawa indeed offers unique opportunities to the visitor.

Ottawa is located 115 miles northwest of Montreal, 256 northeast of Toronto, and 600 miles north of New York City, being in direct rail contact with all three cities.

Ottawa owns her own electric and waterworks system, has 26,000 houses, 350 public buildings, 63 public schools, one university, 100 churches, 17 theatres, 210 industries, 40 clubs, 56 hospitals and asylums, 50 government buildings, 20 parks, 24,250 telephones in use, and over 150 insurance companies at work, everything that makes life worth while is to be found in Ottawa.

Ottawa has already shown that she is still true to her motto, "Advance." Great expansion in trade and industry is already shown. The past decade shows vast advancement. As the city that acts responsive to the heart beat of the nation. Ottawa with its boundless resources, scenic as well as industrial, will no doubt in the next decade double in population and quadruple in the values of its assessable property. In the centre of the greatest water power area on the continent, Ottawa with its abundant and cheap power is bound to attract new industries and greater wealth. With the same indefatigable energy as shown by the pioneers of Bytown, by the fathers of the new city, Ottawa, the Beautiful, present sons and daughters of Ottawa and their children will make Ottawa one of the greatest, richest and noblest Capitals in the world.

The crest of Ottawa is prophetic as we have already seen. "Advance," "Advance" the slogan to a greater Ottawa.

It is a pleasure to present to the users of the Ottawa City Directory our 1922 issue, and in doing so we again assure them that we have endeavored to make it not only the best edition issued by us to date, but one that will stand the test of being amongst the best and most complete directories on the continent.

50,000 Letters in a Day

Have gone out of our addressing and mailing department. A large portion of these were written by our copy staff according to plans and campaigns prepared by our counsel department, multi-graphed in our printing department, and finally addressed folded, enclosed, sealed, stamped and mailed in those departments of our service for those purposes.

This is an example of what we mean by a complete under-one-roof service,—from the idea to increased profits.

Why not let us help you towards more profits too? Write us and ask for details.
